

THE ROLE OF THE CLERGY AND RELIGIOUS IN THE CATHOLIC PRIMARY SCHOOL

Introduction

Where Clergy and Religious work together in partnership with school staff, the life and mission of the church is immeasurably enhanced. The aim of this document is to offer some guidance to the many Clergy and Religious who work with our primary schools. The Education Service has a separate document offering guidance for working with Secondary Schools.

Prayer and Liturgy

The Prayer and Liturgy Directory, 'To Love You More Dearly' states, "The prayer and liturgy that takes place in Catholic schools forms part of the life of prayer and liturgy of the whole Church, but celebrated in a manner that is appropriate for the distinct educational setting of a school. It is not an alternative to, nor can it replace, the prayer and liturgy celebrated in the local parishes... To ensure that the Lord Jesus Christ is at the centre of a Catholic school, prayer and liturgy must be at the heart of its community life. They are essential to the school's Catholic life and mission."

General Principles

Good communication is essential in any relationship, as is the need to value each other's role. It is advisable at the beginning of each school year that clergy discuss and agree the degree of availability and involvement with the school. Where circumstances change there should be an opportunity to reassess the situation. Always remember the need for flexibility and mutual respect.

Confidentiality is vital in this type of pastoral work. However, it is important to remember that in matters of safeguarding this cannot always be the case and the protocol of the school must be followed.

You should be aware of the school's mission statement and values, actively supporting and promoting them. You should have an awareness of current developments and pressures in education generally and in religious education in particular. In the same way, the school should have an understanding and appreciation of the pressures and context of parish ministry.

The roles of governor and that of pastoral care are distinct. Where you are also a member of the Governing Body there must be clarity on both the part of the school and you as to the purpose of any visit or involvement in the school.

Children

You need to be familiar with whole school policies on: Safeguarding, Behaviour, Special Needs, Anti-bullying, Anti-racism, Personal Social Health Education, Relationships and Sex Education.

Your role within the classroom setting needs to be discussed and decided with the headteacher. It is important to get to know the needs of the classes and be aware of and sensitive to, children with special educational needs and other vulnerabilities.

Staff

In order for you to develop your role within the school successfully it is important to develop a good working relationship with the headteacher. It is useful to get to know all members of staff by name and the various roles they play in the life of the school, particularly the religious education leader. All new members of staff should also be introduced to you. There are times when the school community comes under great stress. At such times the support and affirmation from you are of great value.

Many schools have a staff handbook and it may be helpful if the parish clergy are included in the handbook and given a copy. Likewise, if the parish produces a directory it would be helpful if it could be made available to and include the school.

Governors

As clergy, you may or may not be a member of the Governing Body. If you are, a distinction should be made between the two roles (governor and pastoral care) which is clear to all. If you are not a member of the Governing Body, there may be times when the Governing Body needs to make you aware of certain issues in order for you to exercise your pastoral role within the school.

If you are also a governor in the school you should not be a member of an Admissions Committee and must not take part in the governors' discussions relating to applications and decisions on who should be offered places. It is also advisable, if the school has an RE link governor, that this is not a member clergy.

Parents

You have a key role in the parish-school-home partnership. Relationships with the families within the parish and school are developed in many ways, not only by attendance at Sunday Mass and visiting families in their own homes but also by meeting them on the school playground, at class Masses or assemblies, open evenings and other social events in the life of the school.

There may be times when, in order to fully and appropriately support a family within the school, information needs to be shared between you and the headteacher.

Parish Links

Fostering positive relationships between school and parish is a task that belongs to both communities and they should act collaboratively in this endeavour. The school is part of the parish-school-home partnership.

One area of possible collaboration is sacramental preparation. It is desirable if all children attending the school, who are being prepared in their own parish for the sacraments, are supported by the school.

The school should be willing to support their families and to liaise with parishes where necessary. It is recognised that some schools may serve more than one parish. Where this is the case, you can act as the bridge and be proactive in promoting the school in parishes it serves.

Aims for Clergy and Religious involved in the Catholic Primary School

- Accompanying and sharing the story of everyone within the school.
- Helping all in the school community to appreciate the work of God in their lives.
- Supporting all in the school community as they attempt to answer life's problems and helping them shape the questions.
- Being a living witness to the Christian way of life.
- Listening to the concerns of all in the school community and helping to deal with them.
- Animating the liturgy, including school and class masses.
- Being a presence around the school and meeting members of the community informally, e.g. in the dining room, staff room, playground, school gate.

- Giving encouragement where and when it is needed.
- Having the courage to try things out and then reflect on failure as well as success.
- Knowing your people, the pupils, staff and all who work within and for the school.
- Being what you need to be: prophet, presence, bridge-builder.
- Appreciating and Enjoying the happiness and inspiration that being part of the school community can give and sharing its joys and sorrows.

Suggested ways in which Clergy and Religious can be involved in the life of the Catholic Primary School

- Planned programme of children's Masses for school/church as well as planned programme of class or whole school visits (to be logged in the school diary of events).
- Celebrating school/class Masses, Reconciliation services, assemblies involving the school community, including parents.
- Participating in activities which support the school programme for religious education (visits to the church to talk about its history, artefacts, vestments, signs and symbols of Baptism).
- Attending classroom celebrations (these could be pupil or teacher led).
- Sharing own interests with the pupils to support other areas of the curriculum (sports, art, computing, map reading, music and travel).
- Accompanying groups of pupils and teachers on school outings or school journeys.
- Chatting with pupils at lunchtime, playtimes and before and after school.
- Introducing other visitors to the school such as Missionaries, workers from diocesan agencies, key figures in the local community and other faith leaders.
- Reading stories to pupils
- Contributing to whole school events such as Book Week, RE Week and sports day
- Helping to prepare and celebrate liturgy for staff as well as providing valuable training about Church teaching
- Attending relevant staff in-service on such issues as Safeguarding, Whole School Development Planning and Review of the Mission Statement, Collective Worship and Religious Education
- Participating in the social life of the school by supporting and/or participating in bazaars, school/staff celebrations, productions and prize-giving evenings
- Finding ways to promote and celebrate the life of the school through displays of work in the parish or parishes served.
- Liaising between school and parish on a range of ventures such as supporting local food banks as well as fundraising and awareness campaigns for international Catholic charities
